

Bituminous Concrete is Selected for South Main, Robinson Street Project

Council Also Approves R. R. Brown as Engineer

The Harrisburg city council yesterday determined the type of surfacing for the South Main-Robinson street paving project slated for this summer.

The council decided upon a bituminous concrete street seven inches thick. This type of surfacing, along with curbs, storm sewers, contingencies and engineering fees will cost an estimated $88,275 for extending South Main pavement to Robinson and paving Robinson to Granger.

Also approved was the contract of R. R. Brown to be the project engineer. It was adopted subject to the approval of the division of highways, as was the resolution to pave the street.

24 Feet Wide

Brown submitted five different types of surfacing and a complete bituminous surface was chosen. There are indications, it was pointed out, that there will be another cement shortage this year; so the council stayed away from soil cement bases in its considerations.

The planned street will be 24 feet wide between the faces of the curbing.

Brown said that it would take him from six to eight weeks to complete the specifications, which must be sent in to the state for approval before any advertisement for bids.

Street work took up most of yesterday's session.

The council voted to accept the bid of the Franklin Asphalt Co. of Benton to supply and spread oil and chips on unimproved streets. This is the city's program to improve in this manner during the summer approximately 10 miles of street upon which motor fuel tax funds cannot be used. This 10-mile project will cost an estimated $20,000, and will be obtained by taking $2,000 each month from the city's sales tax receipts.

CIPS Contract Explained

Also voted was the purchase of 150 tons of flourspar tailings from the Milligan Coal yards at $1.40 a ton, to be stockpiled here for use by the city street department.

A committee of Councilmen Don Williams and Sneed Jordan was named by Mayor Claude Gibbons to see if anything can be worked out to widen the bottleneck on Mill street between Gaskins and South. The mayor said that this one block of 12-foot street had been a problem for many years and hoped that this council can do something to widen it.

William J. Hopkins, group superintendent of the CIPS, was present and explained phases of the city's street lighting contract, which expires in 1958. Under this contract the CIPS furnishes street lights for $11 a year each if there is a circuit already installed. If up to 400 feet of circuit needs to be installed, the cost is $18 a year for each light. If the distance is more than 400 feet, the city must pay the circuit cost from 400 feet to the point of the light and the fee for the light is $18 a year.

He also discussed the boulevard lights, for which the city receives free power, and said that in most of these lights, the bulbs had been increased from 200 to 295 watts to give more lighting.

SPRINGFIELD — The Illinois Commerce Commission today suspended a rate increase petition by Railway Express Agency Inc. for a 7 per cent hike in first and second class express rates.

Work of Youth Commission Explained at Kiwanis Meeting

Work of the Illinois Youth Commission in caring for delinquent boys and girls at St. Charles school for boys and Geneva school for girls, and supervising them following their release, was explained to members of the Kiwanis club last night by Mrs. LeDema Taylor, parole officer for the commission.

She explained the boys and girls are sent to the reception centers of the two schools by the county courts who turn them over to the commission. They are held in cottages where there are given medical and psychiatric tests and a study of the child is made in the community from which he was sent to the center.

The boys and girls receive nine months of thorough schooling and also are trained in trades and farming whereby they may earn their own living later.

Need Help of Community
The big problem, Mrs. Taylor said, is having the community receive them back into its life without making them feel the stigma of "getting into trouble."

The youth and community service worker also tries to help place the child back in his or her own community and tries to set up a youth program to avoid future delinquencies.

The parole agents and youth and community service workers in this area work out of the district office at Marion which covers 24 southern Illinois counties.

Sentence Woman Gang Leader

CHICAGO — A sobbing "Queen Maggie" O'Connor, once the leader of Chicago's slickest holdup gang, Tuesday was sentenced to serve 2 to 10 years in prison.

The attractive "Queen Maggie," who changes her hair color to suit her disposition and to confuse police, suddenly changed her plea to guilty on robbery charges and then dissolved into tears.

Until her capture last Nov. 21, Maggie was the most wanted woman in Chicago. Police said she was the brainy, hard-boiled leader of a gang which committed at least 100 robberies.

Enfield Man is Seriously Hurt In Rt. 45 Crash

Car Hits Truck, Then Parked Auto; All New Vehicles

Hubert Donahoo, 49, of Enfield Route 2, is in Ferrell hospital at Eldorado suffering serious injuries suffered yesterday on Route 45 near Eldorado.

Deputy Sheriff James S. Lyon, who investigated, said that Donahoo's car struck a truck, then hit a parked auto which was shoved into another truck. The incident occurred around 2:30 p. m. on the eastern edge of Eldorado, near the Hood and Lambert Co. headquarters.

Lyon said that Donahoo was driving his auto southward and struck a new Ford truck being tested by Hershell Smith of the Holman Motor Co. of Eldorado. Donahoo's car then went on about 200 feet into the driveway at the Hood and Lambert Co. and struck a company auto, which was shoved sideways into a Hood and Lambert water truck by the impact.

Smith was not hurt but Donahoo was taken to Ferrell hospital suffering a shoulder injury and lacerations about the head. Full extent of his injuries was to be determined this morning by x-rays.

Smith told Deputy Lyon that as he started around the curve northward testing a new truck, which had less than 100 miles on it and which belonged to Frank Merritt of Omaha, he saw the car approaching from the north, headed toward him as it rounded the curve.

He said he took to the shoulder and was practically off the pavement when the Donahoo car struck the truck he was driving. The truck, loaded with eight tons of rock, went off into a ditch. Donahoo skidded into the driveway and hit the automobile which in turn was pushed into the truck.

Lyon said that all three damaged vehicles were 1956 models with combined mileage of less than 3,000. He said Donahoo's car was destroyed, Merritt's truck practically destroyed, and the Hood-Lambert company car damaged to the extent of about $1,200 dollars. There was no damage to the tank truck.

New Fire Truck Due Here Today

Harrisburg's new fire truck, dressed up in white, was due here early this afternoon.

The machine is scheduled to arrive from Freeburg, where the truck was built on a GMC chassis bought locally from Harper Motor Co.

The new piece of equipment will be given a three or four hour test at the reservoirs north of town by inspectors for the underwriters companies.

The tests originally were scheduled to be made at Freeburg but yesterday Fire Chief L. G. Martin and Harvey Hicks, city firemen, went to Freeburg and changed the plans.

The truck was built by Towers Fire Apparatus Co. of Freeburg. The new apparatus cost approximately $11,200. The chassis already has been paid for and the city will get $2,000 on the old fire truck to be traded to the city of Brookport, which will be applied on the purchase price.

Yesterday at city council meeting the members voted to issue a $8,000 anticipation warrant to pay off the balance. This warrant will go to the Harrisburg National bank and the city will pay it off at a rate of $500 per month with an interest rate of five per cent.

The anticipation warrant was issued because the city did not wish to take all the sales tax money available at present as a large amount of it is earmarked for street improvement.

Eldorado Man Held In Theft of Clothes

Day denied the theft, declaring he had found the clothing.

Associates Informed Ike Wants Second Term

President Will Not Announce Publicly Until Test of Physical Powers

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower has informed close associates here that he wants a second term.

The United Press was informed that he qualified his statement only to this extent: He would not commit himself publicly until after making a personal test of his physical powers during a vigorous shooting and golfing vacation at Thomasville, Ga.

Mr. Eisenhower will return from Thomasville Saturday. He played 18 holes of golf there today. His game was markedly stronger. Republican leaders are confident now that he will announce after his return that he is available if the party desires to nominate him again.

The Doubt Shrinks

The Detroit News reported today in a Washington dispatch by Martin S. Hayden that Sherman Adams and Leonard W. Hall had informed top Republicans that Mr. Eisenhower would run. There "were no ifs or ands or buts about it," Hayden wrote.

Adams is Mr. Eisenhower's chief White House assistant. Hall is chairman of the Republican National Committee. Hall has insisted on his own for many weeks that Mr. Eisenhower would be a second-term candidate.

Doubt that the President would run had been shrinking for nearly a fortnight since a medical examination here after which Dr. Paul Dudley White made an unforeseen estimate of Mr. Eisenhower's physical condition. White said Mr. Eisenhower reasonably could expect 5 to 10 years of active life—the kind of activity to which a President might expect to be subjected.

Program Not Finished

"Dr. White practically put him in nomination for a second term," a White House aide remarked thereafter. It was before that medical examination that Mr. Eisenhower became definite in his confidential talks with his associates about wanting another term, despite the heart attack which he suffered last Sept. 24 during a Colorado vacation. He may not have put it to each in identical words. But his position added up to this:

He was generally unimpressed by the likely Democratic opposition a Republican nominee might expect this year, but appalled by the thought that some of those mentioned might reach the White House. He would like more time to carry out the programs to which he feels he is committed and would be glad to take on another four presidential years if his health warranted it.

Mr. Eisenhower added that he would trust his own judgment as much or more than that of physicians in determining whether he would be fit to run. He has said that publicly, too. The President decided that a fair test would be a moderately strenuous vacation at

Floods Again Hit California, Oregon Sections

Flood waters rolled over wide northern California and Pacific Northwest areas today, isolating towns and causing at least seven deaths.

It was the second disastrous flood in the region in two months and the worst in Washington's Columbia basin in 10 years.

A stationary storm hanging off the coast of Washington, plus a sudden thaw, triggered the floods. Rains eased today, but there were threats of new floods from south-east Washington to northern California.

The little farm town of Connell, Wash., was completely surrounded by water and most of the population was evacuated.

In Oregon, a state of emergency was declared for the Grants Pass area, while in northern California Siskiyou County deputies searched the Klamath River for the bodies of four persons whose jeep skidded into the icy stream.

There were three more deaths in Washington—two Pasco construction workers who drowned in a flash flood and a Chelan street department employee whose snow removal truck slipped off a dock into Lake Chelan.

More flooding, although far less serious, was reported along the Ohio River in Indiana.

Union Township school near Evansville was closed and the Red Cross stood ready to help evacuate the area if necessary. Low-lying areas around New Albany and Mount Vernon were also threatened.

Furnace Explosion Wrecks Cabinet Shop Building

A furnace explosion last night played havoc with the Wilson Cabinet shop building on West Sloan street. The blast was heard by residents for blocks around.

The explosion, of undetermined origin, occurred at 6:15 p. m. There was nobody in the place at the time. Gene Wilson, proprietor, had gone to his house at the front of the cabinet shop 10 or 15 minutes earlier. The furnace was a stoker-fuel coal furnace.

Damage was not estimated but it will run approximately $1,000 according to some sources.

The blast blew out a section of the north wall, loosened part of the west wall, tore up the furnace and a big work bench and blew out about half of the windows. There was other damage, too.

The fire department was called but there was no fire damage.

About Town And Country

By TIMOTHEUS T.

Feature Story on Roy K. Moore In Denver Post

THE DENVER POST last week carried quite a lengthy feature story about Roy K. Moore, who spent his boyhood here.

Moore, son of C. C. Moore of Harrisburg, who brought in the newspaper, is the assistant special agent in charge of the Denver office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation who had the big part in finding the reason for the United Air Lines' big plane disaster over Colorado last Nov. 1.

A 23-year-old man confessed placing a home-made bomb aboard the big plane, bringing death to his mother and 43 others. Moore spearheaded the questioning.

The article deals chiefly with Moore's life. It reveals he was born in 1914 at Hood River, Ore., after his family had moved there from Harrisburg to operate fruit orchards in Oregon and California. They returned to Illinois before Roy reached school age.

He received his eight years of elementary education at Bankston school and his high school education in Harrisburg, never being tardy or absent from the fifth grade through college.

Moore went a half year to college at Carbondale and then went to work. But in 1935, the story reveals, he and a high school chum, Kenneth Johnson, enlisted in the Marine Corps. At Quantico Marine base he came in contact with FBI men and put in his application for a clerk's job with the FBI.

After a Marine discharge he was assigned to the Richmond, Va., FBI office in 1938 and enrolled in University of Richmond night school. He was shifted to Miami as chief clerk in 1939 and continued his education there. He received his accounting degree from Southern university at Miami in 1940. Later that year he entered an FBI agent's class in Washington, D. C., and has been an agent with the service since.

He met his wife, Wilma Lucille Morgan, who was visiting her grandparents in Harrisburg, six years before he entered the bureau. They were married in 1936 at Benton. Mr. and Mrs. Moore have three children, Roy Jr., 16, Carol Arleen, born in 1942, and Sandra Ann, born in 1943.

Fred A. Phillips, Former Resident, Dies in Michigan

Fred A. (Pete) Phillips, former resident of Harrisburg, but late of Detroit, Mich., died at 5:20 a. m. Tuesday at Highland Park hospital in Detroit. Death followed surgery.

He is survived by his wife, Pearl; daughter, Mrs. Mary Esther Watson, and a grandson, Mark Alan Watson.

The body is being returned to Harrisburg Friday morning and will be received by the Turner funeral service. The funeral will be Saturday at 2 p. m. at the First Baptist church. Burial will be in Sunset Hill.

The Weight of Decision

Editorial — BY BRUCE BLOSSAT

At long last President Eisenhower has arrived at his final lonely hour of decision. His doctors have given him as clean a bill of health
as they likely could give any man who has suffered a heart attack.
But they have left to him, as they must, the choice of whether or not to run again for the presidency.

The doctors' report is quite remarkably complete in its appraisal
of Mr. Eisenhower's condition.
On virtually every significant count, they find him progressing toward a solid recovery. More important they find that the weeks of reasonably hard work which were to be the supreme test have taken no toll of his heart
or his system generally.

They pronounce that in their judgment he is fit to not simply an active life but the kind of strenuous existence a president
endures, for the next five or ten years. Should he run and win a second term, his tenure would last just five years more.

But, as Mr. Eisenhower has indicated earlier, in the end it is not what the doctors say he may do but what he himself feels he can do that is vital.

He knows there is risk involved
in his continuing. There would be risk in any event in a man of 65 bearing the presidential load.
He is not likely to imagine it will be lessened by the experience he had on Sept. 24, 1955.

His concern is not how long he can live for himself, but whether he can live out the term of an other contract with the American people.

At one stage in his "out loud"
thinking on this matter, he voiced the wish that the people could show him where his duty truly lies.

No one can really know whether they are wrong or right, but they have tried to speak plainly on this point in the intervening days.
Public opinion polls show that more than 60 per cent of the American people think he should run and only 25 per cent do not.
About the same percentage indicate they are satisfied with his conduct of the government.

These are signs the President must weigh in the days ahead, as he thinks about how he feels, and whether a man who feels as he does should take on so great a task again.

He must also measure the condition of the troubled world, and of his own country. And he must try to guess not only how he may bear up under a second term, but how the nation and the world will be affected, first, if he does run
and win, and second, if he does not. He must think, too, of the Republican party he has tried to lead so earnestly into an enlightened course.

The nation waits calmly but with deep concern for Dwight Eisenhower to decide. The American people who so clearly respect and admire him as a man and a president offer him their warm sympathy and support as he enters upon an ordeal of choice the like
of which no president ever before has faced.

The DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON SAYS:
White House staff censors any Truman cracks about Ike; 12
waiting ambassadors were given White House lunch; They were not able to present their credentials.

WASHINGTON — Ever since
Ike's illness, the White House staff has been careful about bringing disturbing news to the President,
which was why he was not told
at first that the French walked out of the United Nations assembly
or about the full failure at Geneva.
Gradually this ban has been relaxed.

However, there is still one type of news which is usually kept away
from Eisenhower—the wisecracks
of Harry Truman.

Ike has developed such a peeve
against Truman that any word of Truman's speeches or criticism
seems to disturb his pulse more than anything else. And, since the doctors don't want Ike's blood pressure to go up, Harry Truman can say anything at all and Ike won't know about it.

The presidential peeve probably explains why Ike has never invited
Truman around to the White House
as Truman did Herbert Hoover.
Though the two ex-presidents disagree emphatically, they have been quite friendly, and Hoover even helped raise money for the Truman Library. Truman appointed Hoover to study European food problems after the war, and also appointed him as co-chairman of the Committee on Government Reorganization.

Truman shed some light on the start of Ike's peeve in the latest installment of his book in which he tells how he wrote Eisenhower
a letter in early 1952 saying: "Partisan politics should stop at the boundaries of the United States.
I'm extremely sorry that you have allowed a bunch of screwballs to come between us."

Later, when President-elect Eisenhower drove up to the White House to take President Truman
to the Capitol for the inauguration, Ike did not get out of the car to come in and greet the outgoing president, as is customary. Truman never forgot this and still remarks on it.

IKES' "ACTIVITY"

The indefatigable Mae Craig, correspondent of the Portland, Me.
Express, who barges in where her male colleagues fear to tread, put her finger on the point which concerned a lot of people during the full-dress televised medical report
on President Eisenhower's health.
"Dr. White," she said, "the President has not been bearing the full load of the presidency, so how can you now base a decision on that,
on the last few weeks?"

"During the last five weeks," replied Dr. White, "I would like to have Mr. Hagerty speak of that."

"Well, all I can refer you to is the schedule for the last five weeks," replied Hagerty, "and if they are not full working schedules of the President, I don't know what is, with the exception of dinners and social events."

However, the unfortunate fact is that like Sen. Lyndon Johnson, Democrat, who has gone back to Texas to rest his heart after the gas debate, Mr. Eisenhower's schedule has been nowhere near as vigorous as it was before his illness, and his pre-illness schedule was somewhat lighter than Truman's. The lists of the callers are on file in the White House, and all you have to do is look at them to see the difference.

So far, newsmen and political critics have shied away from making any comparison. However,
there have been some mild but growing complaints from the diplomatic corps where 12 ambassadors were kept waiting for weeks
without a chance to present their credentials, and still have not had that opportunity.

The 12 were finally given a White House luncheon on Feb. 8 to quiet
the diplomatic rumblings, but some of the envoys are still in doubt as to whether they are properly accredited to the United States.

WILSON RECEIVED ENVOYS

Their doubt results from the fact that under Article II, Section 3 of the Constitution, it is stated that the president "shall receive ambassadors and other public ministers."

Hitherto, this was considered mandatory, and no envoy was duly accredited to the United States until he had actually and physically
placed his credentials in the hand of the president. This practice is not only part of the Constitution,
but is according to long-standing international custom that an ambassador represents the king or president of a nation and, therefore, has access to the king or president.

Last fall, however, new ambassadors were asked to deposit their credentials with the State Department. This they did, figuring that after Ike's recovery they would have an opportunity to call on him.

However, as time passed, the ambassadors read that the President was able to hunt at Gettysburg, be photographed with his new tractor, ride in a pony carriage, and play bridge in Key West.
So some of them looked up the precedents. They found that when Woodrow Wilson suffered a stroke,
the first thing he did, upon being able to get about in a wheel chair,
was receive new ambassadors.

Three envoys who arrived during Wilson's illness had been given "provisional recognition" by the State Department, but were given a chance to present their credentials to the still-ailing president in December 1919, long before he was able to hold a cabinet meeting. His first cabinet meeting was held in April, 1920.

RUSSIAN AMBASSADOR GETS IN

When the unrecognized ambassadors recently inquired of the State Department regarding the date they would be able to present their credentials, they were told that their formal accreditation was complete and that they would not see the President at all.

Some of these envoys are from the Middle East where Khrushchev and Bulganin have made a lot of hay lately.

Recently, when the Russian ambassador asked for and got immediately an interview with President Eisenhower to present a letter from Bulganin, the State Department decided to do something about the still-waiting envoys. Even such important neighbors as Argentina and Chile had not been able to have their ambassadors see
the President at all.

So finally the ambassadors were given a formal luncheon at the

Drop Big Shot Idea, Executives Told

MILWAUKEE — Executives
were advised in a conference at Marquette University to take themselves less seriously and stop acting like "big shots" all the time.

Russell Moberly, Marquette Management Center director, told the conference that anxiety and tension could be eased by getting up earlier to avoid early morning
rushing and taking at least a few minutes each morning to put the feet on the desk and relax.

Dr. Donald M. Wilson said an executive health program could save a company personnel and loss of man hours. He recommended a sensible over-all physical rather than short-cut tests, with emphasis on too many laboratory tests
and unproved procedures. Obesity, diabetes, high blood pressure and bowel difficulties are most commonly found in busy men, Wilson said.

He told the executives at the conference that many persons fear
a thing may be bad because it's fun. He listed smoking and the fear of lung cancer as one of these.
He said regular examinations often removed fear arising from symptoms which resembled heart
and cancer diseases.

He estimated one-third of executives over 45 have unsuspected
health defects and treat their health casually, putting off examinations because they are busy or do not have a regular doctor.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of my Sis, Bernice Swan, who passed away Feb. 22, 1954.

We miss her so terribly And sometimes feel we are dreaming.

It cannot be real, But could she return I could hear her say, Don't grieve my loved ones, It's better this way.

I am happier here And it's such a relief, To be free of pain And feel no grief.

So, keep your faith, And always pray that We will all be together Again some day.

Sadly missed by Mr. and Mrs. Leo King and son. 200-1

Washington Birthday Sales Unload Capital Stores of Excess Goods

WASHINGTON — This being Washington's Birthday, hordes of shoppers flocked downtown in search of 99-cent typewriters, ladies' pink panties at a penny a pair and fur coats that never should have left the rabbit.

By tradition, or long-ago planning, merchants take advantage of the anniversary of the first President's birthday to unload their shelves of excess goods—some of it junk.

If you were in Washington today and were one of a lucky few, you could buy:

Men's shoes at 79 cents a pair. Olives in large cans for a dime a can. Mattresses and box springs, 99 cents—regular $139. Bookcases worth $39.50 for $1.95.

Some more-than-used TV sets were offered at 99 cents.

Ladies' dresses came down quite a bit in some of the cheaper stores. For $8.98 on the going market to $2.00. Nylon girdles could be had on a grab deal for $1.48.

One store was proud to pay a considerable sum to a local paper to advertise "assorted fur pocket books, muffs and collars—25 cents. Also mink scarfs, $5."

One shoe store advertised shoes ordinarily costing $14.95 for $1.50. And the ad said you could have a second pair for a nickel. And the ad added: "If you can't use both pairs—bring a friend."

Carter to Expand Oil Production In Illinois Fields

TULSA, Okla. — The Carter Oil Co. will spend a large amount of money this year to increase its oil production in Illinois.

Carter said in its annual report for 1955 that two million dollars will be spent on water flood projects to increase production, and most of the sum will be spent on the London oil pool near Vandalia.

Water flooding is a method of pumping water down into oil-producing formations which have dropped off in production. The pressure of the water helps move the oil to the well.

Carter said its production in the London pool increased an average of 3,100 barrels per day in 1955. Average production of 14,700 barrels daily made the London pool Carter's leading producer.

The company also announced it will start new water flood projects at East Inman, Roland and North Thompsonville in Illinois and in Kentucky.

Jake Guzik, Former Capone Gang Lord, Dies

CHICAGO — Jake (Greasy Thumb) Guzik, Al Capone's right-hand man and onetime "King of the Gambler," died Tuesday night like the respectable businessman he longed to be.

The pudgy, sad-faced gang lord was found dead in his bed at a South Side apartment he rented under the name of "Jack Arnold." A fire department inhalator squad worked 45 minutes in a futile attempt to revive him.

Guzik died a natural death, apparently as a result of a heart attack, a coroner's official said.

It was a placid end for a man who never carried a gun, but seldom took a stroll through the Loop with less than $1,000 in his pockets. The 69-year-old underworld veteran would have wanted it that way.

Greasy Thumb had spent his last years trying to achieve respectability. But his record and the Chicago police wouldn't let him.

His last brush with the law came only last week, when he sued the police department for $50,000 on grounds of false arrest.

The police had arrested him five times since 1952 without cause, Guzik said. The last pickup, and the one that made him go to court, was for questioning about the Dec. 8 murder of another financial "brain" of the Capone gang, Alex (Louie) Greenberg.

Guzik's fight for respectability followed his self-professed retirement as one of the top, and sometimes the top, leader of Chicago's underworld.

Greasy Thumb insisted he had bowed out of active leadership in the mobs, but police believed he still swung weight as a respected elder statesman.

In his long career he collected numerous nicknames—"Greasy Thumb" because he was the gang's collector and payoff man; "Little Mayor of Cicero" because he practically ran the town in the Roaring 20s; and "King of the Gamblers" because he was exactly that during the heyday of the Capone mob.

Capone's Good Right Hand

The flabby little mobster filled Capone's need for a business manager who could get tough.

He took over the mob when Capone was out of town and also filled in as cooby of suburban vice and gambling and as the man who made sure that Capone's boys stayed out of prison.

Capone and Greasy Thumb both went to prison on income tax evasion charges in 1930. It was the end of the line for Capone, who later died of paresis, but Guzik came back after three years as temporary top dog of the Capone gang.

Plane Explodes On Landing; Crew Of Five Killed

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. — A four-engine Strato-freighter crashed and exploded "like a rocket" in a routine landing attempt Tuesday on the edge of Palm Beach Air Force Base, killing the five men aboard.

The Air Force withheld names of the victims pending notification of next of kin.

Witnesses said the KC97 Boeing cargo craft slammed into a road beside the base in making a low-altitude approach and skidded onto the base.

Mrs. Lillian Palmer, living in one of some 2,000 homes in an adjacent housing development, said flames "shot 80 feet into the air and a big ball of black smoke covered everything."

Flying debris from the plane did not strike any of the homes or other buildings in the vicinity, but flames which enveloped the plane started a grass fire on the base.

Only Four Killed in January on Southern Illinois Highways

DU QUOIN, Ill. — The southern Illinois highway death toll last month was the lowest for any January in five years.

State Police District 13 here reported today only 4 persons died in highway accidents in the district's 17 counties last month. By comparison, 7 persons were killed in accidents in the district in January, 1955, and 10 fatalities were reported in December, 1955.

The fatalities last month were in Hamilton, Jackson, Johnson and Washington counties.

Ex-Teacher Praised by Eisenhower

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP) — An 83-year-old retired teacher who drilled President Eisenhower in his ABC's in Abilene, Kans., more than 50 years ago was praised Tuesday night by her most famous pupil for her lifelong service to education.

Miss Addie B. Over, known to the President and her other former pupils as "Miss Addie," was awarded a gold key for her contributions to education and particularly for having been Mr. Eisenhower's favorite teacher.

Because she is still recovering from a bout with the flu a month ago, Miss Addie was unable to make the trip to Atlantic City to receive her award. The President, who is resting in Georgia, also was unable to be here for the first Golden Key Dinner, sponsored by six national organizations representing 12 million teachers, parents and school officials.

Message Of Praise

But Mr. Eisenhower sent a message of praise.

"Miss Addie B. Over and teachers like her are best portrayed, I think, by the phrase 'they care,'" the President wrote.

I am proud to salute Miss Addie B. Over, a beloved teacher of mine more than a half century ago, as one who has completed a lifetime of service in the task of education which joins our yesterday to our tomorrow.

Mr. Eisenhower was honored with a gold key also, for having been a pupil who made good. Another key went to Roy E. Larsen, President of Time, Inc., and his old teacher, Stacy B. Southworth, 78, of Braintree, Mass.

Lu Ann Simms, Ex-Godfrey Singer, Is Fired Again

DETROIT (AP) — Singer Lu Ann Simms, who was fired by Arthur Godfrey from his radio-television show last year, awaited her next booking today after being fired from another engagement here.

A Detroit hotel manager revealed Tuesday that he cancelled the vocalist's contract because he was "flabbergasted at the nothingness of her show."

Art Gloster, spokesman for the Statler Hotel, said Miss Simms' contract was cancelled Saturday. Her two-week booking in the hotel's swank Terrace Room opened Feb. 13.

"It took us about 3 minutes to discover what Arthur Godfrey apparently learned," Gloster said. "The Statler management now thinks Godfrey's judgment wasn't so bad after all."

"The customers didn't even pause in their eating while she was on stage," Gloster said. "They never took their eyes from their plates."

Fires Destroy Two Southern Illinois Schools

By United Press

Fires destroyed two grade schools in southern Illinois Tuesday and 40 children escaped safely from one of them.

The 40 students who escaped the fire that destroyed the Shobonier Grade School emptied the building in 15 seconds. Two teachers, Mrs. G. V. Blythe and Miss Wilda Hill, directed their pupils to safety from the two-story brick school in the community south of Vandalia.

The other fire burned down the Cambria Grade School. No one was in the one-story, frame building when the fire broke out about 9 p. m.

The fire had burned through one end of the building by the time firemen arrived. The building contained five classrooms, a gym and a cafeteria.

FBI Arrests Two Brothers for Truck Hijackings

CHICAGO — FBI agents have arrested two brothers and recovered part of the loot in three truck hijackings.

Agents Tuesday night took into custody Louis Scalise, 40, and his brother, Frank, 42, both of Chicago.

They said they found 257 cases of whisky, $2,500 worth of nylon hose and a store of tobacco in a store the brothers operate, in Louis' auto, and in Frank's home.

FBI agent Don S. Hostetter said the whisky was part of 397 cases taken from a trailer Oct. 18, the nylons were stolen from another trailer Feb. 1, and the tobacco came from a $55,000 hijacking last Aug. 5.

Dulles Returns From Vacation; Faces Questioning

WASHINGTON — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles ended a Caribbean vacation today and turned his attention to the controversy over U. S. policy in the Middle East.

Dulles, arriving by plane sometime in the afternoon, was expected to seek an early briefing from his aides on the furor over a shipment of 18 U. S. tanks to Saudi Arabia—a dispute which broke out while he was away from Washington.

Dulles and Undersecretary of State Herbert Hoover Jr. will be questioned about the shipment, probably Friday, but the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. Another State Department official, Assistant Secretary George V. Allen, faced probable questioning on the same issue today during an appearance before the House Foreign Affairs Committee in closed session.

Area Coal Firms Support Plan To Canalize Big Muddy River

By ROBERT L. ULLRICH
United Press Staff Correspondent
MURPHYSBORO, Ill. — Army engineers today studied a plea for a multi-million-dollar canal project in southern Illinois.

Witnesses gave testimony and presented evidence Tuesday in behalf of a proposal to canalize the Big Muddy River and Beaucaup Creek.

They said the canal would revive the area's coal industry by providing low-cost transportation, and also attract new industry to the region.

Col. George White, commanding officer of the St. Louis district of the Army Corps of Engineers, conducted the hearing in the high school auditorium. An estimated 1,000 persons listened. It has been estimated unofficially that the cost of canalizing the Big Muddy and Beaucaup Creek would be as much as 30 million dollars. However, backers of the project said it would be well worth it.

D. W. Buchanan Jr., president of Old Ben Coal Corp., estimated that 11 million tons of coal could be shipped by barge on the canal at a saving of nine million dollars a year.

Rails to File Statements
J. R. Henderson, a former chairman of the Coal Producers Advisory Assn., said water transportation had cut the cost of shipping coal from western Kentucky to Chicago 79 cents a ton.

H. G. Christianson, secretary of the Belleville Fuels Inc., said 6,848,898 tons of coal would be available for water shipment if the canal were built.

Frank Colby, president of United Electric Co., said his firm and the Truax-Traer Coal Co. already had bought $4,750,000 worth of barges and towboats jointly "to keep us competitive by shipping on the Mississippi and Illinois River waterways."

When White asked if anyone wished to speak in opposition to the canal, representatives of three railroads—the Illinois Central, Missouri Pacific and the Gulf, Mobile and Ohio—asked for and were granted permission to file written statements concerning the project. A representative of one railroad said his company wished to study the situation and was not necessarily opposed to the Big Muddy project.

MONTGOMERY, Ala. — Twelve Negroes, including 7 ministers, were arrested today as deputies began rounding up 115 persons indicted on charges of illegally boycotting city buses in a desegregation dispute.

Among them were the Rev. S. S. Seay who identified himself as the secretary of the home missions board of the African Methodist Episcopal Zion Church, and E. D. Nixon, former state president of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. Nixon and Seay surrendered voluntarily.

The Rev. R. D. Abernathy, head of the negotiating committee that has kept the boycott going long after it was expected to collapse, spoke for the group.

"We have been arrested," he said. "The only thing we have to say is that we are law-abiding citizens and we are willing to be governed by the law."

Asked which law he meant, Abernathy replied, "Any law. That is why we submitted to being arrested."

Abernathy and several other ministers left the jail after making bond.

Arraignment of the defendants will take place Friday morning in Circuit Court. They could receive a maximum sentence of six months if convicted of the charges.

A grand jury returned indictments against the huge list Tuesday. The jury's presentments said the boycott was one sign of "a growing tension between the races" in the city.

"Just how good is Shawneetown? Is this year's team better than last year's?"

Questions of this type have been asked all year by fans both in Shawneetown and other places. The Indians really captured the imagination of fans during the 1954-55 season. They were the "Cinderella Club" of Illinois.

And the 1955-56 edition has plenty of the previous State Tournament team back for another year. A lot was expected of the team. And the boys have delivered!

I wouldn't attempt to say how good they are, but the UP rating board made up of coaches throughout the state rate the Indians ninth in the state. That means the coaches think the Indians are GOOD. Not the best in the state, but not far from the top. There are approximately 700 high schools in the state playing basketball and when a team is rated ninth, that means there are many more trailing along behind than there are in front.

It is difficult to imagine that a team could be better after losing three regulars and two of the three were among the best to be found in these parts. Ron Joyner, Bobby Spottsville and Garrison Newsom were graduated last spring. Newsom was selected as a first string guard on the all state tournament team. Spottsville was a standout all year and Joyner was one of those dependable—not a headline maker, but valuable.

But all other members of the squad came back for another year and many Shawneetown fans rate this edition 10 points above last year's team.

They will tell you that Co-Captains Al Gunzel and Jack Nolen and Jack Drone, Hobart Ellis, Mitch Thraillik, Ted Coleman, and Bob Stewart are a year older and a year better. That's undoubtedly true. The team lost a dependable guard, Carroll Crane, at the end of the first semester as he had used his eight semesters of eligibility.

Shawneetown has been good enough to win all its games to date. Played 26 and won 26. Can't do much more than win.

And the spirit, both at school and among the townspeople, is good. Can't find any that will say they expect the team to lose in the immediate future and not many think the Indians will be scalped at all this season.

Occupying a prominent place in the school hallways is a large white piece of cardboard. In black letters are words to this effect: "Shawneetown Indians—All The Way." Figures, one through 35, were faintly outlined and then filled in with orange as the team won. There are now orange figures 1 to 26 inclusive. Figures 27, 28 and 29 are games in the regional, 30 and 31 sectional games and 32, 33, 34 and 35 are state tournament games. It is explained that when the figure with the number 36 is painted black, "That would be Black Day for Shawneetown, but we don't expect to use any black paint this year," a student explained. The school's colors are orange and black.

In winning all 26 games to date, Shawneetown has scored 2,012 points, for a 77 plus average and allowed 1,367 for a 52-plus per game.

Jack Nolen is the individual scoring leader with 501 points. Al Gunzel has 399 and Jack Drone 390. Hobart Ellis and Bob Stewart have scored 261 and 194 respectively.

Fine rebounding, plus a well-balanced scoring attack, has been the key to the Indians' success this year.

How much farther will they go? Time will tell. Tournament play starts Monday.

Discharged GI Sentenced for Navy Desertion

GREAT LAKES, Ill. — An honorably discharged soldier was convicted of wartime desertion from the Navy and sentenced to 18 years at hard labor Tuesday.

The case of Clarence R. Dawes, 29, Decatur, Ill., must still be reviewed by the 9th Naval District and by a board of review in Washington. If the sentence is upheld, he will also receive a dishonorable discharge from the Navy.

After a court-martial board of six officers returned the verdict, Dawes' wife, Ruth Marie, 24, sobbed, "I don't know what we'll do. We will lose everything."

Dawes joined the Navy in May, 1944. He was convicted of deserting three months later from his station at Solomons, Md.

He was drafted into the Army in January, 1946, and was honorably discharged one year later.

Dawes was arrested last November while working as a janitor in a factory.

Rails Postpone Rate Increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's railroads agreed today to postpone until March 7 a proposed 500-million-dollar-a-year freight rate increase.

The 7 per cent increase was to have gone into effect Saturday unless blocked by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The railroads bowed to an ICC request that the carriers voluntarily postpone the effective date to give the commission more time to study the record in the case.

Pincks Win Southwest Egyptian Title

By United Press
Streator upset Peoria Central, Pinckneyville again won the Southwest Egyptian crown and two dozen more teams were knocked out of the state tournament running in Illinois high school basketball Tuesday night.

Streator, which had lost its last three games, whipped the Lions, ranked eighth in the state, by a 56-50 score. It was Central's first loss in the Big 12 conference, tying them for the lead with Lincoln, also beaten once. Central had won 13 straight since dropping holiday tournament games to Rockford West and Rockford East. Its only other loss was to Quincy.

Pinckneyville ran its season record to 24-3 in winning the Southwest Egyptian conference title for the sixth straight year by beating Murphy'sboro 33-15. It was the final game of the regular season for the Panthers, ranked second in the state.

The two dozen teams knocked out of the running for the state title were the losers in the 15 district tournaments under way Tuesday night. One of the strongest of these, Odell St. Paul, was a survivor at Chatsworth, beating Kempton 66-42.

Carmi loses, 67-46

At the Columbia district tournament, O'Fallon and Mascoutah won as expected. Mascoutah whipped Waterloo SS. Peter and Paul 91-56, while O'Fallon downed Waterloo 78-66.

In regular season games in the Peoria area, Washington was back in early season form in trouncing Farmington 98-53. East Peoria and Lewisport put the ball in deep freeze before East Peoria won 23-17. Peoria Spalding outclassed Henry 83-37.

Atlanta ran its record to 23-4 in one of the highest scoring games of the season, outracing Le Roy 114-89.

North Egyptian Conference champ Salem humbled Flora 89-45. Lawrenceville was a surprisingly strong victor over Carmi 67-46.

Eastern Illinois conference teams had a good night. Cumberland whipping strong Pana, 82-76, Paris overcoming Danville 84-64 and Charleston romping past Morrisonville 77-56.

Vienna Defeats Cave, 65 to 64

Vienna closed out its Greater Egyptian conference season Tuesday night with a 65-64 victory over Cave-in-Rock. The game was played on the winners' floor.

This was the final GEC game of the season and the victory shoved Vienna into a tie with Galatia for third place in the standings, each with a record of eight victories and six defeats.

The defeat put Cave-in-Rock and Equality, each with 4-10 records, in a tie for sixth place in the standings.

The game was close all the way. Vienna led 15-14 at the quarter and 33-31 at halftime, but trailed 48-51 after three quarters. A four-point spread in the final frame, 17-13, gave Vienna the win.

A non-conference game, featuring Pope Co. at Brookport, was postponed until this evening when there was a power failure at the Brookport gym. After waiting until 9 p. m. for lights, the game was moved back a day.

Knicks Lose Fifth Straight

By United Press

The New York Knickerbockers are finding to their dismay that getting rid of a coach and hiring a new one is no sure-fire formula for success.

They were further than ever today from their objective of third place in the Eastern Division of the National Basketball Assn. and a spot in the playoffs. For the fifth straight time they were beaten by the Syracuse Nationals, 108-107, in two overtime periods at Madison Square Garden.

Syracuse, riding high with a six-game winning streak, now has a third place lead of a game and a half over the Knicks.

Ironically, when Joe Lapchick gave up the ghost as coach, the Knicks were in third place, comfortably ahead of Syracuse. But since Vince Boryla took over as head man on Feb. 12 the New Yorkers have won only two games while losing five.

In the opener of the Garden double bill Jack Twyman hit with three field goals and seven free throws in 11 attempts in the fourth quarter to pace a 106-102 Rochester Royals victory over the Fort Wayne Pistons.

The Royals made 34 points in the final period to stay ahead of the Pistons, who scored 33 in a wild windup.

At St. Louis, Chuck Share and Bob Pettit piled in 27 points apiece to pace the Hawks to a 101-97 victory over the Boston Celtics. St. Louis retained third place in the Western Division.

Ridley, Smallest Player in Big Ten, Is Rated All-Loop Guard by Combes

CHICAGO (AP) — Illinois' Billy Ridley is the smallest cager in the Big Ten, but when the fiery guard gets on the court, he's more valuable than most of the high-pockets "dunkers" around.

Ridley was appreciated by the Illini fans, with reason, long before he got into an argument over his height. When the tape measure disclosed he stands 5 feet 7½ inches tall in his shoes, the estimate of his value went up.

"He's the smallest major college basketball player I've seen," Coach Harry Combes said. "There may be a smaller one around, because there are unusual lot of little kids playing now, but I haven't seen any."

Ridley's size doesn't affect Combes' judgment of his standout senior.

Speed and Brains

"He's got terrific speed," Combes said, "and he's a fine shooter. He's got as good vision as I've ever seen in any basketball player. And he's very intelligent on the court. He's just a hell of a basketball player."

Statistics simply proved Combes' contention. This year Ridley has averaged 19 points per game in 19 straight Illini victories in the Big Ten to hold ninth place in conference scoring. Last year he averaged 15.2 points per game over the season and 14.8 in the Big Ten.

Even on defense, though he gives away height to every other player in the league, Ridley has been well able to take care of himself.

"He's real quick," Combes said, "and he's smart and tenacious. And durable. He gets kicked around out there quite a bit, but he comes right back."

Key to Fast Break

"We keep him away from the board as much as possible because we like him out in front. He's our key man in the fast break. So he doesn't go under after rebounds. He's not supposed to. In my opinion, he's certainly an all-conference guard."

The current season was half over before Combes and the rest of the Illini squad discovered exactly how tall, or small, Ridley was.

"He got into kind of an argument over his height," Combes said, "so we got out the tape measure and he was 5 feet, 7½ with his shoes on. We'd been carrying him as 5 feet 9."

Maybe it's a good thing, for the rest of the conference, that he isn't.

Carrier Mills Defeats Joppa in State Tourney

Carrier Mills won its way into the quarterfinal round of the state grade basketball tournament being played at Marion by defeating Joppa last night 76-56.

This gives the Harrisburg regional two representatives in quarterfinal competition as Harrisburg won its opening game Monday.

Other winners in play Tuesday were Herrin over Murphysboro, Centralia over Lawrenceville and Flora beat Benton.

Carrier Mills led Joppa at the end of each quarter of play, 18-8, 33-22 and 54-42.

Today at 1:30 Marion meets Bridgeport followed by Harrisburg vs. Mt. Vernon. In tonight's session Herrin plays Centralia and Carrier Mills faces Flora.

Scoring in last night's game: Carrier Mills—Taborn 28, Williams 5, Shaw 19, VanHoy 15, Pitts 4, Green 4, Shelton 0 and Prather 1; Joppa—Castleman 4, Laird 4, Stephenson 32, Dycus 8, Rankin 6

Establish New Curriculum in Printing Management at SIU

CARBONDALE, Ill. — Establishment of a professional curriculum in printing management at Southern Illinois university was announced today by Dr. Howard R. Long, chairman of the university's Department of Journalism.

Announcement of the new major sequence, the first in the Middle West leading to a university degree, was made during the one-day Typographical Workshop on the campus, Saturday, sponsored by the Department of Journalism
for editors and printers of the area.

With the addition of the new courses, two majors in printing
are now offered in the Department of Journalism, Dr. Long said. In addition to the major in printing management, with a Bachelor of Science degree, a sequence in printing and education
is offered to train teachers of the graphic arts.

Wide Demand in Field

"The major in printing management," Dr. Long explained, "is designed to equip students for positions of administrative responsibility in the graphic arts field. It is intended as a preparation for careers in administration, production, design and sales in the printing and allied industries, and it is not in any sense merely a trade or vocational curriculum. In addition to technical courses in the graphic arts, candidates for degrees will take courses in the School of Business and Industry

which include accounting, personnel, and office management, and must complete the general educational requirements of the university.

"Study of the field convinces us
that there is a wide demand for graduates in the graphic arts field
who are qualified to accept positions in management, design, production and sales," Southern Illinois university is pioneering in this field with the conviction that its carefully designed curriculum
offers an opportunity for constructive leadership.

Well-Rounded Department

"The major in printing and education is intended to qualify graduates for teaching positions in typography and other subjects in the graphic arts field," he continued.
"The curriculum in this sequence combines courses in printing, binding, book design and press work with studies in education and in the required courses for a university degree.

"The addition of the printing
major sequences marks another
step in the development of a well-rounded Department of Journalism at Southern Illinois university which we believe is rapidly becoming one of the outstanding
schools of journalism in this country," Dr. Long said.

Twenty specialized and general courses in the graphic arts are offered in the two major printing sequences. Subjects listed include typography, press work, photo-
lithography, paper book design,
binding, printing cost analysis,
printing management and production.

The printing sequences are under the direction of Assistant Professor Francis D. Modlin, who has a background of extensive experience in newspaper and commercial printing as well as in teaching. He received his bachelor of

Farmers Vote for High Supports at Douglas Meeting

PITTSFIELD, Ill. — Sen. Paul
H. Douglas (D-Ill.) headed for two more farm sentiment meetings today after getting a straw vote here
for high price supports.

At the end of a meeting of 600
farmers on the farm problem, Douglas asked those remaining to vote for or against 90 per cent
parity level supports on basic crops. The raised - hands vote showed 251 for such supports, 15 against.

Douglas told the crowd which packed the Pike county circuit
courtroom that he wanted to hear from the farmers, "because while I get a lot of advice in Washington, I'm not sure it's coming from the people or special interests."

Douglas is in Illinois as a one-man Senate subcommittee to hold hearings on depressed economic area conditions. But while here he is holding a series of meetings
with farmers.

The meetings today were at Shelbyville and Newton.
Douglas will hold farm meetings
in Nashville and Steelville Thursday, then will start the depressed area hearings Friday at Bend and Litchfield. These hearings will move on to southern Illinois next week.

RED CROSS HOME NURSING EXHIBITS now on display on the balcony of the gymnasium of the Harrisburg Junior high school. The home nursing items were made by Junior high school girls in the Red Cross Home Nursing class taught by the school nurse, Mrs. Ethel Mathias. There are ten units, one made by each member of the class, in the exhibit. Mrs. Mathias at extreme right is holding a pair of slippers made from newspaper and held together by safety pins. Home Nursing Exhibit by Red Cross Class of Junior Hi Students

A Home Nursing exhibit, containing ten units, is on display on the balcony of the Harrisburg Junior high school gymnasium showing the results of a Red Cross Home Nursing class that has been conducted at the Junior high school.

Shortly after school began last fall forty-eight Junior high school girls indicated an interest in the Red Cross Home Nursing class that was to be offered under the leadership of the school nurse, Mrs. Ethel Mathias. Since ten is the maximum enrollment for the class, ten cards were drawn, of those submitted, by a disinterested person and those ten made up the class.

Meetings were held twice each week in the school nurse's office. The Red Cross Home Nursing manual was used as the text. Saline county chapter supplies were used with the approval of Mrs. Helen Belt, executive secretary of the county Red Cross chapter. Other needs were met by the pupils and teacher.

Interest continued high and co-operation good through the course of study, which was brought to a close with the exhibit now set up on the gymnasium balcony.

Just recently Mrs. Mathias entertained the class members with a supper and TV party at her home in Eldorado and the girls were presented certificates issued by the American National Red Cross and signed by the local chapter representative, Mrs. Helen Kimmel.

Interested persons are invited and encouraged to visit the Junior high school this week and see the units of work completed by the members of the class: Gaynell Bristow, Bonnie Logsdon, Shirley Bennett, Judy Willmore, Mary Gibbs, Dorothy Pierce, Rebecca Chrisman, Beverly Vick, Judith Howard and Linda Evans.

The exhibit includes a bed table, back rest and foot cradle made from cardboard boxes; a miniature back rest and pillows; an adult breakfast tray and a mid-morning nourishment tray for a child.

There also is a hand washing unit and a table set for steam inhalation. Other items include a pitcher made from a fruit juice can, a "donut" made from a stocking to protect pressure points such as heel, elbow or ear; a call bell made from a tin can and pebbles covered attractively with a bit of wallpaper.

High on the interest level is a bathrobe made from a cotton sheet blanket and slippers made from a single safety pin and newspaper. Most helpful and uncolorful is a sack made from newspaper that is useful in properly disposing of contaminated mouth and nose wipes.

Deposits in State Banks Reach All-Time High: Hodge

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—State Auditor Orville E. Hodge today reported total resources and deposits of Illinois state banks reached an all-time high at the end of 1955.

Hodge reported the 530 state banks in operation Dec. 31 had total resources of $4,753,588,800 and total deposits of $4,437,619,134.

On Dec. 31, 1954, total resources were $4,574,290,746, and total deposits were $4,280,116,790.

More than half the total funds were in the 29 state banks in the city of Chicago.

Loans and discounts of the 530 banks were up sharply, totaling $1,473,906,198 compared with only $1,247,433,740 on Dec. 31, 1954.

U. S. government obligations held by state banks decreased to $1,788,839,431 from the Dec. 31, 1954, total of $1,932,869,626.

Americans eat an average of 14 pounds of hamburger and other ground beef a year.

8,175 Arrests for Overweight Trucks By Highway Police

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. — Acting Superintendent William H. Morris said today that Illinois State Highway Police weighed 4,393,695 trucks and made 8,175 overweight arrests during 1955. Total overweight amounts to 11,995,600 pounds.

In addition, 2232 arrests were made for greater loads than licenses permitted.

Morris said that the largest number of violations occurred in October, when 366,630 trucks were weighed and 970 drivers arrested for being a total of 669,900 pounds overweight.

Morris attributed a steady decline in the yearly number of overweight violations to an improved spirit of cooperation and a better understanding of the weight laws by the trucking industry.

According to records maintained by Alois J. Mrkvicka, statistician for the Department of Public Safety, trucks from every state in the nation except Maine, New Hampshire, Utah, Vermont and Wyoming were arrested in Illinois for overweight violations. The arrests included one trucker from Hawaii and 18 from Canada.

During 1955, truckers paid a total of $458,388.15 in fines and costs on 12,596 convictions of overweight violations.

Just a Corpse at Twilight

By Robert Martin

THE STORY: After being shot at and after finding the body of Alice Osborn, apparently murdered, James Bennett, a private investigator, drives Lucy Dorn to her home at the Winchester Inn in Beech Tree. Lucy apparently is morbidly interested in Mrs. Osborn's death, and also in the proposed autopsy on Mrs. Osborn's husband, who died six months before and whose death, possibly from industrial causes, is being investigated by Bennett.

XIV

I looked at the book shelves on the wall beside us. Many of the books were mystery and detective novels, all in their bright jackets. On a lower shelf was a row of paper-back reprints, and in a corner by themselves, set off from the rest by a bronze bookend, were three hard-cover novels by the same author, Pat Carstairs. Her favorite author, I thought, remembering that she had been reading one of his books at the Inn desk the afternoon before.

"We're comfortable here," she said. "What sort of music do you like?"

"Most anything—except the hill-billy stuff and the sobbing crooners." She laughed. "How about On the Alamo?"

"Wonderful," I said. "I used to dance to Isham Jones in Cleveland. For a time he played at the New China there." I sighed, remembering.

"I guess that was before my time," she said.

"Yes, in the 30's. There were some fabulous bands in those days. Bunny Berrigan, for one. Bunny's dead now."

She laughed and stood up. "Come on," I followed her across the room to the small hall. She opened a door, turned on lights, and we entered a small room containing more book shelves, two gray steel filing cabinets, a desk by a window, three deep leather chairs and a record player on a stand beside a cabinet filled with albums and individual records.

"This is kind of a combination office and den," Lucy said. "We keep the Inn records here, and I help with the book work."

She took a record from the cabinet, placed it on the player's turntable, and in a moment the soft strains of Brahms' Lullaby filled the room. She turned and smiled. "A drink?"

"Let me do it."

She shook her head. "Sit down and relax. I'm the hostess here."

She took my glass and left the room.

I gazed idly about. There was a covered typewriter on the desk beside a thick stack of yellow paper. Also on the desk was a new box of white bond paper and a folder of carbon sheets. I had a novelist friend in Cleveland and I had been in his work room. Something stirred in my memory, and I moved over to the desk. The yellow pages beside the typewriter were filled with double-spaced typing and covered with numerous corrections and penciled marginal notes. At the top of the page were the words, CHAPTER ONE.

That was all—no title, no author's name, but even my non-literary mind recognized the first draft of a book.

Curiously overpowered me. I lifted the cover of the typewriter, saw the white top sheet backed by two carbons and yellow sheets rolled into place, and the neatly typed words in the center of the page:

LOVE ME OR KILL ME

By Pat Carstairs

In the upper left-hand corner was Lucille Dorn, followed by the name and address of a New York literary agency.

There was a slight movement and the tinkle of ice. I looked up. Lucy Dorn stood in the doorway, watching me, holding the two glasses. I replaced the cover on the typewriter and I said, "Hello, Pat."

"Hello," she said. I stepped around the desk and took my glass from her hand. "I'm proud of you. Why keep it a secret?"

She lifted her small rounded shoulders. "Nobody would understand, especially in a place like Beech Tree. They would think that I was well, a screwball. If they knew that Maude Dorn's daughter was wasting her time writing about murder and blood and corpses..."

"I'm sorry I snooped," I said, "but I couldn't help it."

"It's all right," she smiled up at me. "I intended to tell you anyhow. I had the feeling that you'd understand. You see, I'm trying not to write just mysteries—I'm trying to write about people, what they think and really feel and what they are."

She paused and her eyes were shining. "In my books I like to think that the murder is incidental, just a—basic problem from which the character's reactions can be explored, tracked down. Nothing is more basic than death, not even love, and I try to put into words—"

The sound of door chimes stopped her, and she looked at me with a puzzled expression. "That can't be Mom yet, and besides she has her key. Excuse me." She left the room.

I moved down the short hall and stood in the shadows where I could see the outside door. Lucy Dorn opened it and stepped back. Dr. Richard Jarrett came in, closed the door and faced her. He was still wearing the brown-checked jacket and the light glinted on his short crisp brown hair. He was only a little taller than Lucy Dorn, and I thought again that they made a nice-looking couple. He said bluntly, "Lucy, I had to see you. I'm going away. I want you to go with me."

U. S. Missiles Displayed

WASHINGTON — The public got a look today at the world's first known intercontinental guided missile—a pilotless U. S. bomber that can pack an atomic warhead.

The public also got a look at the U. S. 60-foot rocket from which a 1,500-mile intermediate ballistic missile is being developed.

The guided missile—the Air Force's Snark—can travel 5,000 miles at about 600 miles an hour.

It automatically navigates by the stars.

The rocket—the Army's Redstone—is a ballistic missile designed to strike targets at 200 miles range. It travels at supersonic speed.

The Defense Department Monday released pictures of the Snark and the Redstone as controversy over how the U. S. missile program compares with Russia's continued unabated.

The Redstone, a derivative of the German World War II V2 and developed at Redstone Arsenal, Ala., by German scientists, is considered the prototype for the forthcoming Army-Navy mid-range, or 1,500-mile, missile.

The Air Force also is working on a mid-range ballistic missile.

The pictures revealed that the Redstone is filled with its liquid propellant and given service checks in a unique structure more than 100 feet tall.

The rocket is placed upright in the serving structure, which is located at the Missile Test Center at Patrick Air Force Base, Fla. During the delicate fueling operation, the structure can be rolled away from the missile if anything goes wrong.

Reduce Sentence Of Sergeant For Collaboration

FT. MEADE, Md. —The sentence of Sgt. William E. Banghart, convicted of collaborating with the enemy in Korea, was reduced from 15 years at hard labor to 1 year today.

The sentence reduction was made by Lt. Gen. Floyd L. Parks, 2nd Army commander. It left Banghart still subject to dishonorable discharge from the Army and forfeiture of all pay and allowances.

Parks said he granted leniency in the case because none of the charges against Banghart indicated he had informed on fellow prisoners or mistreated them in any way. He said there also was no indication Banghart revealed or attempted to reveal military information to the enemy.

Rabbits and hares will eat almost every kind of plant or fruit they can nibble on the ground.

Domestic Wrangles Called Crash Cause

NEW YORK — Don't argue with your husband. You may be driving him to his death on the highway later.

One expert said that emotional upsets may cause as many highway accidents as careless driving or faulty brakes.

Leonard M. van Noppen, who supervises a car fleet that travels 30,000,000 miles yearly for the Universal C.I.T. Corp., said that studies show that thousands of motorists involved in accidents are physically fit and expert at the wheel. They cracked up because their emotions overthrew their usual alertness and judgment.

"When you know your emotions are at a depressed point, be extra careful," he said. "Better still, stay out of your car altogether. A motorist's biggest enemies are his own feelings."

He urged couples to avoid domestic arguments especially in the morning, when one or both may drive to work.

Miss Jo Ann Bowen To Wed Eldon Raymon June 29

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Bowen, 20231 Keating Avenue, Detroit, Mich., are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Jo Ann, to Eldon Raymon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Raymon of 15906 Oak Drive, Livonia, Mich.

Mr. Raymon finished his pre-law study at Wayne University at Detroit where his fraternity is Kappa Sigma Kappa, and at present is employed in the Labor Relations Department of Ford Motor Company. In the fall he will begin the study of law at the University of Detroit.

Miss Bowen graduated from the Harrisburg Township High school with the class of 1952 and attended Blackburn College for two years. She is a senior at Wayne University, majoring in English literature. Her sorority is Delta Sigma Epsilon.

The wedding is to take place June 29 at the Livonia Presbyterian church with the reception to follow at the Bonnie Brook Country Club of Detroit. Mrs. Sam Parker Jr. and Mrs. Eleanor Blades, aunts of the bride-to-be, plan to travel to Detroit for the wedding. Set Dates Soon For Schools' Spring Clinics

Spring clinics are here again! The Harrisburg Public Schools, under the guidance of the Medical Advisory committee, are presenting another opportunity for children who are not under the watch-care of their family physician to get either their initial dosage or booster "shot" of typhoid vaccine. Also either a first smallpox vaccination or a re-vaccination is available.

Parents will receive notice of the forthcoming program, and recommendation of child's need as determined by the cumulative record and Medical Advisory committee policies. Parents must give written consent for participation in the school clinics. Twenty five cents will again be charged for each dose of vaccine; however, parents unable to pay, wanting health protection for their children may have it for the asking through the teacher or school principal.

Preschoolers will be able to share in enough clinics to get either a booster dose or a series of three injections and a vaccination. Local doctors will administer the vaccine and the school nurse will be in charge of the program. Time, place and dates will be announced later.

School clinics are second best in a communicable disease control program. The preferred procedure is for parents to take their children to the doctor of their choice for guidance in personal control.

Parents are requested to keep a record of the immunizations their children have in the program that they may be better able to work with the school personnel. At the close of the spring clinics signed consents will again be returned to the parents for their convenience.

IT HAPPENED IN SOUTHERN ILLINOIS:

Posey Marker in Gallatin County Is Link to George Washington

By JOHN W. ALLEN
Southern Illinois University

As the anniversary of Washington's birth recurs, it is well that we again consider the ways in which he had a somewhat direct connection with our region. He never traveled west of Ohio and thus no "Washington Slept Here" sign can be erected in southern Illinois. Other markers, however, could be placed to say—"Soldiers who lived here helped to force the surrender of Washington in the French and Indian Wars." Many others saying "This man knew and served with George Washington," could be placed above now unnoted graves in many of our old and oft neglected cemeteries.

A somewhat strange appearing marker in a Gallatin county cemetery serves to illustrate this. This marker is a low, box-like vault of large stone slabs above the grave of Thomas Posey in Westwood cemetery, about two miles north of Shawneetown. Numerous markers similar to this one were erected at graves in our earlier cemeteries. Most of these markers, however, have long since collapsed and are now only piles of broken stones. One of the better preserved specimens is the one at the grave of General Posey, able officer of the American Revolution and trusted friend of George Washington. Observation of this strange appearing marker and the legends carved in its stone slabs suggest the story of an interesting individual and of his colorful career.

Long Military Career

Thomas Posey was born in Fairfax County, Virginia, not far from the home of the Washingtons in 1750. Not much is known of Posey's family beyond the fact that his mother was Elizabeth Lloyd and that her family was one with a social standing above the average. He grew up in the way of country boys of that time. His educational advantages were meager.

No record of his earlier years are found until 1769 when Posey was nineteen years old and the family moved to Botetourt county, about 175 miles south and west from his birthplace. This migration brought him much nearer the frontier with its constant Indian threats and conflicts.

Young Posey shortly enlisted in the militia and began a long and active military career. He served as a captain in the forces led by Lord Dunmore and General Lewis in the Indian campaign often designated as Lord Dunmore's War. In this campaign he held the post of Commissary General under General Lewis.

In the Lord Dunmore war he was engaged in the battle with the Indians at Point Pleasant near the place where the Kanawha river joins the Ohio in present day West Virginia. Other campaigns against the Indians followed. He was at German Flats, Schoharie, Cherry Valley and Wyoming. At all these places he acquitted himself well and left an excellent military record.

Favorite of Washington

Throughout his military career during the Revolutionary War he appears as a favorite of General Washington, who often suggested him for or assigned him to increasingly important tasks. When conflict with the mother country came, Posey became a champion of the causes of the colonists. He was a member of the Committees of Correspondence that sought to keep the colonists informed concerning developments and relations with the military activities began he became engaged in them. He was present and helped to arrange the surrender of General Burgoyne, the English playwrighting general, at Saratoga on October 17, 1777. This was one of the significant victories of the colonists in the earlier part of the war. After Saratoga he had an important part in other campaigns. He appears at Stony Point as leader of the battalion that successfully stormed the British position. An incident in the Stony Point battle is indicative of his devotion and loyalty to Washington. When asked to lead the storming troops he is said to have replied, "I'll storm hell if General Washington will plan it." It was he who announced the capture of the fort.

As a souvenir of the battle of Stony Point, Posey brought with him to Illinois the flag carried by the storming troops. This flag with its seven broad stripes of red and white and its field of thirteen stars arranged in a circle was one of the objects of interest in Shawneetown for a century or more. Much tattered and frayed, it was, a few years ago, still on display in the bank there.

Served with Mad Anthony Wayne

At Washington's special request, Posey was assigned to the celebrated regiment known as Morgan's Riflemen and rendered distinguished service with them. He served with "Mad Anthony" Wayne in some of his campaigns. He was present as a member of Washington's staff at Yorktown.

After the end of the Revolutionary War, Posey moved to Kentucky where he was elected state senator and served two years as speaker of that body. He was thus, ex-officio, lieutenant governor of the state. Later moving to Louisiana he served as United States senator from that state. Upon the retirement of William Henry Harrison, Posey was appointed Governor of Indiana Territory and served in that capacity until Indiana became a state. He was then appointed Agent for Indian Affairs for Illinois Territory and moved to Shawneetown in 1816. He died at the home of his son-in-law, Joseph M. Street, on March 9, 1818 and was buried in Westwood cemetery among many others prominent in early Illinois history.

Four Departments at HTHS - - English, Math, History, Latin - - Teach the 3 R's

Four departments at the Harrisburg Township high school deal with the three "R's" — reading, writing and arithmetic.

The four departments are English, history, math and Latin, headed by Miss Bernice Patterson, H. B. Bauman, Miss Faye Moffett and Miss L. Rice.

The English department consists of English I to English IV, Speech and II, and Journalism. The English section is divided into literature and grammar. In grammar the students learn the various parts of speech and sentence structure. The great works of English and American authors are studied in literature. Speech I and II are not offered this year, but are for the students who are interested in speech. Journalism gives much practical newspaper experience for those interested in that field as the students write for the Clarion. Miss Patterson, Mrs. Helen Dunn, Mrs. Dolores Jenesch, Miss Julia Williamson, James Bynum, John Schork, and V. Bennett are the teachers in the English department.

The History department, of which Mr. Bauman is the head, offers World and American history, civics, economics, sociology, and psychology. World history, taught by Miss K. Rice and Ben Chamness, tells the historical narrative from prehistoric time to the present. United States history, specifically, deals with our country—her achievements, her wars, and her future in the world of nations, and is taught by Mr. Bauman, Miss Alvina Shestak, and Miss Alta Davis. If you want to improve your mind and personality, study psychology under Mr. Bauman, civics, taught by Miss Davis, deals with the various forms of government. If you want to learn to spend your money wisely, economics is the subject for you.

Algebra I, Algebra II, Plane and Solid Geometry, and Trigonometry, constitute the Mathematics department. Some math is very essential for admission to any college. Algebra I is a required course for all students. Algebra II and III, Plane Geometry, Solid Geometry, and Trig are electives. Miss Moffett is head of the department. Mrs. June Malan, Mrs. Mary Ellen Egges, and Mr. Chamness finish the roster.

Miss L. Rice and Miss Patterson teach Latin I, II, and III. A major in Latin is acceptable for graduation and for entrance to college. Latin I and II are offered each year, but Latin III is offered only when there is sufficient demand to justify a class. The students study the Latin vocabulary and the ancient gods and goddesses. When students complete two years of Latin with a 90 or above average they are eligible to join the Latin club.

Strong Move Under Way To Bounce VP Nixon From Republican Ticket

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON — The movement to bounce Vice President Richard M. Nixon off the 1956 Republican ticket has won some powerful support close to President Eisenhower.

The arguments against Nixon include: he is perhaps the most controversial figure in American national politics. He is too young—43. The vice presidency will be of unusual importance if Mr. Eisenhower seeks and gets a second term. Democratic condemnation of his campaign tactics have hurt his position with the public. Democrats are ready to center their campaign attack on any man "who stands a heart-beat from the presidency."

The foregoing are basic in the stop-Nixon effort. They add up to the belief, or fear, of some influential persons that Nixon would cost the national tickets votes if he were on it again this year.

There is no evidence so far that Mr. Eisenhower is impressed by the arguments for dropping Nixon in 1956. On the contrary, Mr. Eisenhower's public words and acts have been enthusiastically favorable to the vice president.

The President fielded Democratic complaints against Nixon's 1954 campaign tactics with a note of congratulations on his speeches and campaign line. That endorsement covered Nixon's discussion of Communist infiltration of government during the Roosevelt and Truman administrations.

Announcement Looked For

Mr. Eisenhower also is on record that an individual nominated for president should refuse the nomination if he were not satisfied with the party's choice for second place. There has been a boom of late in confidence that Mr. Eisenhower shortly would announce his availability for renomination.

That is what fired up the effort to displace Nixon. On the basis of information generally available, it will take a tremendous effort to supplant Nixon with another if the President runs again. There is the sturdy evidence that Mr. Eisenhower likes his young friend and approves of his conduct as vice president and as a party campaigner. That approval abundantly embraces whatever Nixon may have said in the 1954 campaign about the Democratic Party leadership and the Communist infiltration of government.

It is well known here that Mr. Eisenhower does not intend to go barnstorming this year if he does accept renomination. He will not campaign in the usual, physical sense of the world—at least he says he won't. The campaign load will fall chiefly on the Republican vice presidential candidate.

Can Carry Load

Nixon has shown that he can carry that kind of load to Mr. Eisenhower's satisfaction, regardless of what others may say about it. Former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, of New York, is another rough and ready Republican campaigner. He proved it, finally, in the 1950 gubernatorial campaign. There are others, but not many. Dewey is not seriously discussed for the spot anyway.

All good Republicans are not good campaigners, capable of the physical and mental strain of a national campaign in a presidential year. The stop-Nixon strategists must come up with a substitute who can perform on the stump. That is their first problem. They are thinking more, however, of a man who might suddenly succeed to the presidency. Their second task will be to persuade Mr. Eisenhower that their man would do a better job for him than would Nixon.

It won't be easy. Mr. Eisenhower seems firmly committed. But he has been firmly committed before this on such largely personal political decisions as this one would be. And, under pressure, he has been persuaded to concede. The stop-Nixon advisers are betting they can persuade him again. However that may be, look for the drop-Nixon effort to hit hard the moment Mr. Eisenhower announces that he will run again. It could come any time now, if it is coming at all.

Notre Dame Getting New Atom Smasher

SOUTH BEND, Ind. — A do-it-yourself project that's out of the ordinary is rising in the University of Notre Dame's science hall.

Scientists here are building a 4,000,000-volt atom-smasher.

The atom-smasher—the third of increasingly powerful electrostatic generators to be installed on the campus—will be one of the strongest radiation sources in the world, the university said.

It will produce X-rays of high intensity and penetrating power of 500,000 roentgens per minute. The mechanism will be housed in a 15-ton tank 32 feet long and eight feet in diameter. Concrete walls and a roof 37 inches thick will prevent radiation leakage.

Thinking It Over—For Lent

By Robt. Dieffenbacher, D. D.
Written for NEA Service

What's wrong with your picture tube? When you first got your television the lines were steady and sharp and you could see the features of the characters. There was no fluttering and no jumping on the screen.

But of late the whole picture is dimming. Just at the moment when you want to know whether the guest is going on to the next question, or whether he is going to take the check and go home, the picture jumps out of focus and you see only a jumble of lines and spaces.

So you call the serviceman. He has to replace some parts or make some adjustments or replace the whole picture tube. And you wonder if it would not be better to get a whole new set.

Sometimes when we look at people we find that they, too, are not presenting a clear picture of honesty, faith, love and consistency. At first the picture is dimmed only a trifle, but as time goes on we find our friends not wanting to watch the life pictures we present. Soon we find ourselves with few viewers except for the ones who enjoy the grotesque, the ugly and the distorted.

Before we deteriorate into the category of the dimmed picture tube, it is well to go to the Repairman and have some parts of our lives replaced. What is more, we all know how to reach the great Repairman of men's souls.

American industries consume more than 70,000 tons of tin a year, the supply coming mainly from Asia, Africa, and South America.

Cities Warned to Plan Alternate Seats of Government

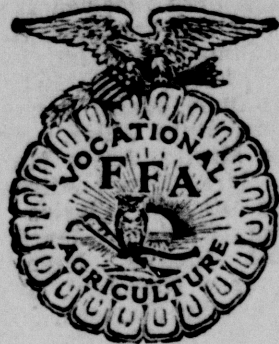

WASHINGTON (AP)—Civil Defense Administrator Val Peterson said today the nation's cities must plan now to have alternate seats of government in case of an atomic attack.

He told more than 225 mayors attending the third annual civil defense conference they also must set up a "line of succession" so there will always be a responsible official in charge.

The federal government has made "substantial progress" toward this end, he said, but there still is too much public apathy elsewhere.

Peterson said cities may have no warning at all if an enemy perfects the deadly intercontinental ballistic missile. But he added that "strategic evacuation" and underground shelters, where possible, would still be the best line of defense.

The week of George Washington's birthday is chosen each year for the observance of National FFA Week. Although generally remembered as a Revolutionary War General and the first President of the United States, George Washington also was a successful farmer. He was one of the first in the nation to practice contour planting, crop rotations, fertilization and other soil conservation and improvement methods.

Navy Conducting Concerted Area Recruiting Drive

The February recruiting drive, which has been dubbed "Operation Sign-Up," will offer all eligible young men who apply the chance to train with their friends at a naval station near home at Great Lakes, Ill.

Chief Pease of the Recruiting station at Marion said the novelty of conducting a concerted recruiting campaign during the month of February—a month that is normally very poor for recruiting—is one of many interesting aspects of this announcement.

Commander Henry L. Waliszewski, Task Group Commander for "Operation Sign-Up," states the Navy has prepared a February career package for those young men who are alert enough to realize that these extra inducements are available to them.
